An internal auditor independently conducts operational, compliance, performance, information technology, and financial audits of an entity's operations, vendors, suppliers, contractors and grantees.

A commission auditor reviews and provides advice on agenda items involving financial matters, attends board meetings and performs other duties assigned by the board.

Background

On November 2, 2002, the Broward County Charter was amended by the voters as proposed by the Charter Review Commission, to replace the position of Commission Auditor with the position of County Auditor. This new position was assigned expanded powers and duties including (1) internal auditing; (2) additional oversight of financial matters; and (3) review of business transactions and practices relating to County government. As a result of this Charter
