Re: Transfer of Stevedore, Cargo Handling and Steamship Agent Licenses from Coleary Transport Co., Inc. to Logistec Everglades LLC

Dear Mr. Hernandez:

The undersigned along with John Milledge represents Coleary Transport Co., Inc. ("Coleary") regarding the above-referenced matter.

As you know, Coleary has been conducting business in Port Everglades pursuant to stevedore, cargo handling and/or steamship agent licenses since 1992. Beginning in 2014, Coleary entered into a joint venture relationship with Logistec USA Inc. to expand the scope and capabilities of the services provided to its customers at Port Everglades.

The Logistec group is a global leader in the cargo-handling industry and provides innovative, comprehensive industrial solutions to specific markets. It was founded in 1952 and the parent company, Logistec Corporation, is a publicly traded company providing operations in marine and environmental services in over 30 ports and 48 terminals across North America.

Coleary and Logistec USA Inc. seek to further their relationship together and have formed a new entity, Logistec Everglades LLC ("Everglades"), which they shall own and operate together upon the transfer/assignment of the subject licenses currently enjoyed by Coleary. Additionally, upon approval by Broward County, Bill Coleman, who is the principal owner of Coleary, shall continue to be the Port Manager for business operations for Everglades.

This transaction shall provide Port Everglades with a seamless transition of the services currently provided by Coleary, result in increased investment by Logistec USA Inc. in Port Everglades and increase business opportunities for Everglades that will inure to the benefit of both Port Everglades and the taxpayers of Broward County.
